“ I can't believe that I'm no longer sharing this earth with Melissa (always Melissa Brockett to me). I don't think I've seen her since the mid-1990s and didn't originally recognize her last name--meaning it's been way too long--but I remember so clearly her special energy, her smile, her fun, her smarts. I also remember how much she adored her daughter. She would bring me new pictures of her to post on my bulletin board at the Honors House--I'll have to see if I can still find one of them somewhere. I know I'll never forget Melissa! Here's what I wrote about her for Honors Day in 1995: "Melissa Brockett came to UAB from New Yawk, and we've enjoyed imitating her accent for the past four years. Melissa is a Communications Studies major, specializing in broadcast journalism. Even before she came to college she had made an award-winning documentary entitled "Racism: The Internal Madness," and she has continued to do fascinating work in the field both here and in New York. Melissa also found time to serve as president of Alpha Kappa Alpha sorority, to serve on the Black Student Awareness Committee, to do volunteer work at the Jimmy Hale Mission and the A.G. Gaston Boys Club, and--usually--to come to class. If you look closely, you'll see that Melissa is sporting a particularly nice diamond on her ring finger, and her fella is a big part of her future plans. But so are we, of course, and we'll expect a special Melissa Brockett hug around here on a regular basis.”
