“ To the McNabb Family: My sincere condolences and prayers for comfort to each one of you. I just found a couple of days ago of Officer McNabb’s passing. I supervised him as one of his former Captains at Montgomery’ Women’s Facility. He was always willing and ready to complete whatever task I assigned him as do. We also shared a high regard for “Alabama Football 🏈 Roll Tide!” Upon my retirement Officer McNabb came by my office to inform me that he had added on a “Man Cave” to his house decorated with Tide Memorabilia. I had a lot of Tide Memorabilia in my office, McNabb asked if he could have several pieces to put in his Man Cave, and of course I gave him everything because he was such a kind person. Family and friends, God’s grace and mercy will sustain us. Remember, “weeping may endure for a night, but joy cometh in the morning.” Praying for your strength: Retired Captain Cathleen P. Johnson

“ I literally smile when I think of Tracy's and my freshman year in college. Somehow, he remembered me, and found me and reminded me we were in First Grade together. He offered to take me home to Troy to see my grandmother whenever I wanted to go. I'm grateful for his generosity, those road trips to see her, and the laughs. I had just shared this memory of him with a cousin less than a week before learning he passed. Philippians 1:3

*I met Tre right out of the academy. He was a young man that I truly admired; although I was much older than he, we were very good friends, riding partners to and from work. We were also friends off work. He will be remembered to me as a person who was very wise, considerate, humble and of few words. My prayers and condolences to his family. “ *I'm so heartbroken. Yet, I know God does not and can not make a mistake. Tracy you made sure you greeted and spoke to me daily at work. You would check on me before exiting your shift. I can still hear you saying "That's WHEELER right there!" The jokes and people we laughed about. I praise God for our last meeting on Monday, at the Post Office . Yet, I would never have dreamed it would be the last. Giving honor to God for sharing you with us. I pray for my cousin, your wife's strength, along with your children and family. Now, take your rest. Never good by but see you later. Love always,
